Estate and the wine

Heir of the great Bordeaux Supérieur tradition, Château Hauts-Jays can be rated as a fine Bordeaux wine. This wine whose quality is constant over the years is produced on the former gravel banks of the Isle River, tributary of the Dordogne River, soils that are the direct continuation of the Pomerol and Saint-Emilion banks.

This wine displays a good concentration focusing on the fruity character. It can be tasted in its prime years, but will also reveal all its complexity after cellaring a few years.

The Tasting by our cellar master

The colour is red deeply .

The nose is greedy with notes of red fruits combined with smell of white flowers. In the palate, it's a supple wine and well balanced with nice tannin. Easy drinking. A wine very fruity.
